

LEAN SUPERVISOR TRAINING

Developing Front-Line Supervisors to Succeed in a Lean Environment

Workshop overview:

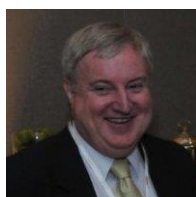

Develop the leadership and supervisory skills of your leaders. This workshop is aimed at giving key leaders (front-line supervisors, team leaders and managers) within your business the correct lean mindset and tools to begin or move forward on the journey to operational excellence.

Learn about:

- Expectations of a front-line leader
- Motivating and engaging employees
- Effective communication
- Leading change
- Visualisation of work systems
- Systems for good work
- Standardisation and 5S
- Building a winning Team

Facilitator:

Barry McCarthy has a wealth of knowledge in the field of operational excellence. His career highlight includes his role as Capability Development Manager with Toyota Australia. He has worked with the Manufacturing, Sales and Corporate Arms of Toyota Australia over the past 15 years. This has involved implementing Toyota global and local development and management systems. His work has focused on creating learning experiences to achieve business requirements. Prior to Toyota, Barry worked for nine years at Goodman Fielder as a Plant Manager and Continuous Improvement Manager. With the recent closure of automotive manufacturing in Australia, Barry is now sharing his unique experience and understanding with the broader community.
