Leadership for Lean Implementation

Lean thinking – especially value streams and flow concepts – help people in businesses to see the opportunities together. Helping people to understand the interrelationships and their role in success makes it easier to act. One of the most difficult challenges for lean thinkers is to influence people who are not on board yet. Without buy-in from all parts of the business, change is usually fractured, frustrating and very slow.

In this breakfast briefing you will further develop your people skills and knowledge of lean thinking techniques to dramatically accelerate the rate of improvement.

Carla Geddes is the Principal of Practicon. She facilitates improvement by providing people with the knowledge, skills and direction needed for effective change. She has led change in senior roles with Procter and Gamble, Reckitt and Colman and Goodman Fielder. She now works with Australian companies on improvements often using High Performance Consortia, World Class Manufacturing and Lean Enterprise concepts.
